

Christine Gennigens, MD, PhD
CENTRE HOSPITALIER UNIVERSITAIRE DE LIÈGE (CHU)

Prof. Christine Gennigens is a distinguished medical oncologist at CHU Liège and an associate professor at the University of Liège (ULiège), Belgium, specializing in gynaecological (particularly cervical and endometrial) but also renal cancers. She completed her medical education at the University of Liège (with 1 year as fellow in the Comprehensive Cancer Center- The Centre Leon Berard of Lyon-France) and has since become a leading figure in oncology, contributing significantly to clinical trials and research in the field. Prof. Gennigens has published extensively on emerging therapies in gynaecological oncology. She is member of the BSMO board. She is also actively engaged in educating future oncologists through her teaching responsibilities at ULiège and Post-Graduate Course in Medical Oncology (PGMO) committee. Her work emphasizes the integration of immunotherapy and novel strategies in clinical practice, aiming to improve patient outcomes in gynaecological oncology.